

UNDERSTANDING VAPOR DISTILLATION

Healthy Hemp Pet Company, established 2014, offers small batch production pet health products proudly made with USDA organic hemp oil. And not just any hemp oil, we use the highest quality available!

In fact, our hemp oil is unlike all others. It's the first naturally-extracted hemp oil, on the market, that is completely free of chlorophylls and carbonic acid. Yes, that's right... 100% chemical free! Even better? Our supplier is the first certified USDA organic hemp greenhouse in the state of Colorado. This means they practice biodynamic farming techniques, use ladybugs for pest control, and have a zero-waste facility! It doesn't get more natural than that.

Cool right? Though what does this mean for retailers and consumers? Great question, it means we have the highest level of naturally-occurring terpenes of any activated edible oil. This process leaves even more of the natural plant profile intact, and also improves final product taste. You might be asking yourself, how does this even work? Well, we've got a video in the work to explain it. Until then, let us explain the extraction process

VAPOR EXTRACTION TECHNOLOGY HOW IT WORKS

The Vapor Distillation™ process uses heated air to gently extract both CBD and beneficial terpenes without the use of chemicals or harsh solvents. Heated air is passed through our hemp flowers to evaporate CBD and terpenes from the surface of the hemp in the form of a vapor. This vapor is then collected and condensed into a terpene-rich, full-spectrum CBD concentrate, totally free of chemicals! Keeping our pet products as natural as possible.
